Empty chair at 10 AM?

The Problem

10:00 AM. The chair is empty.

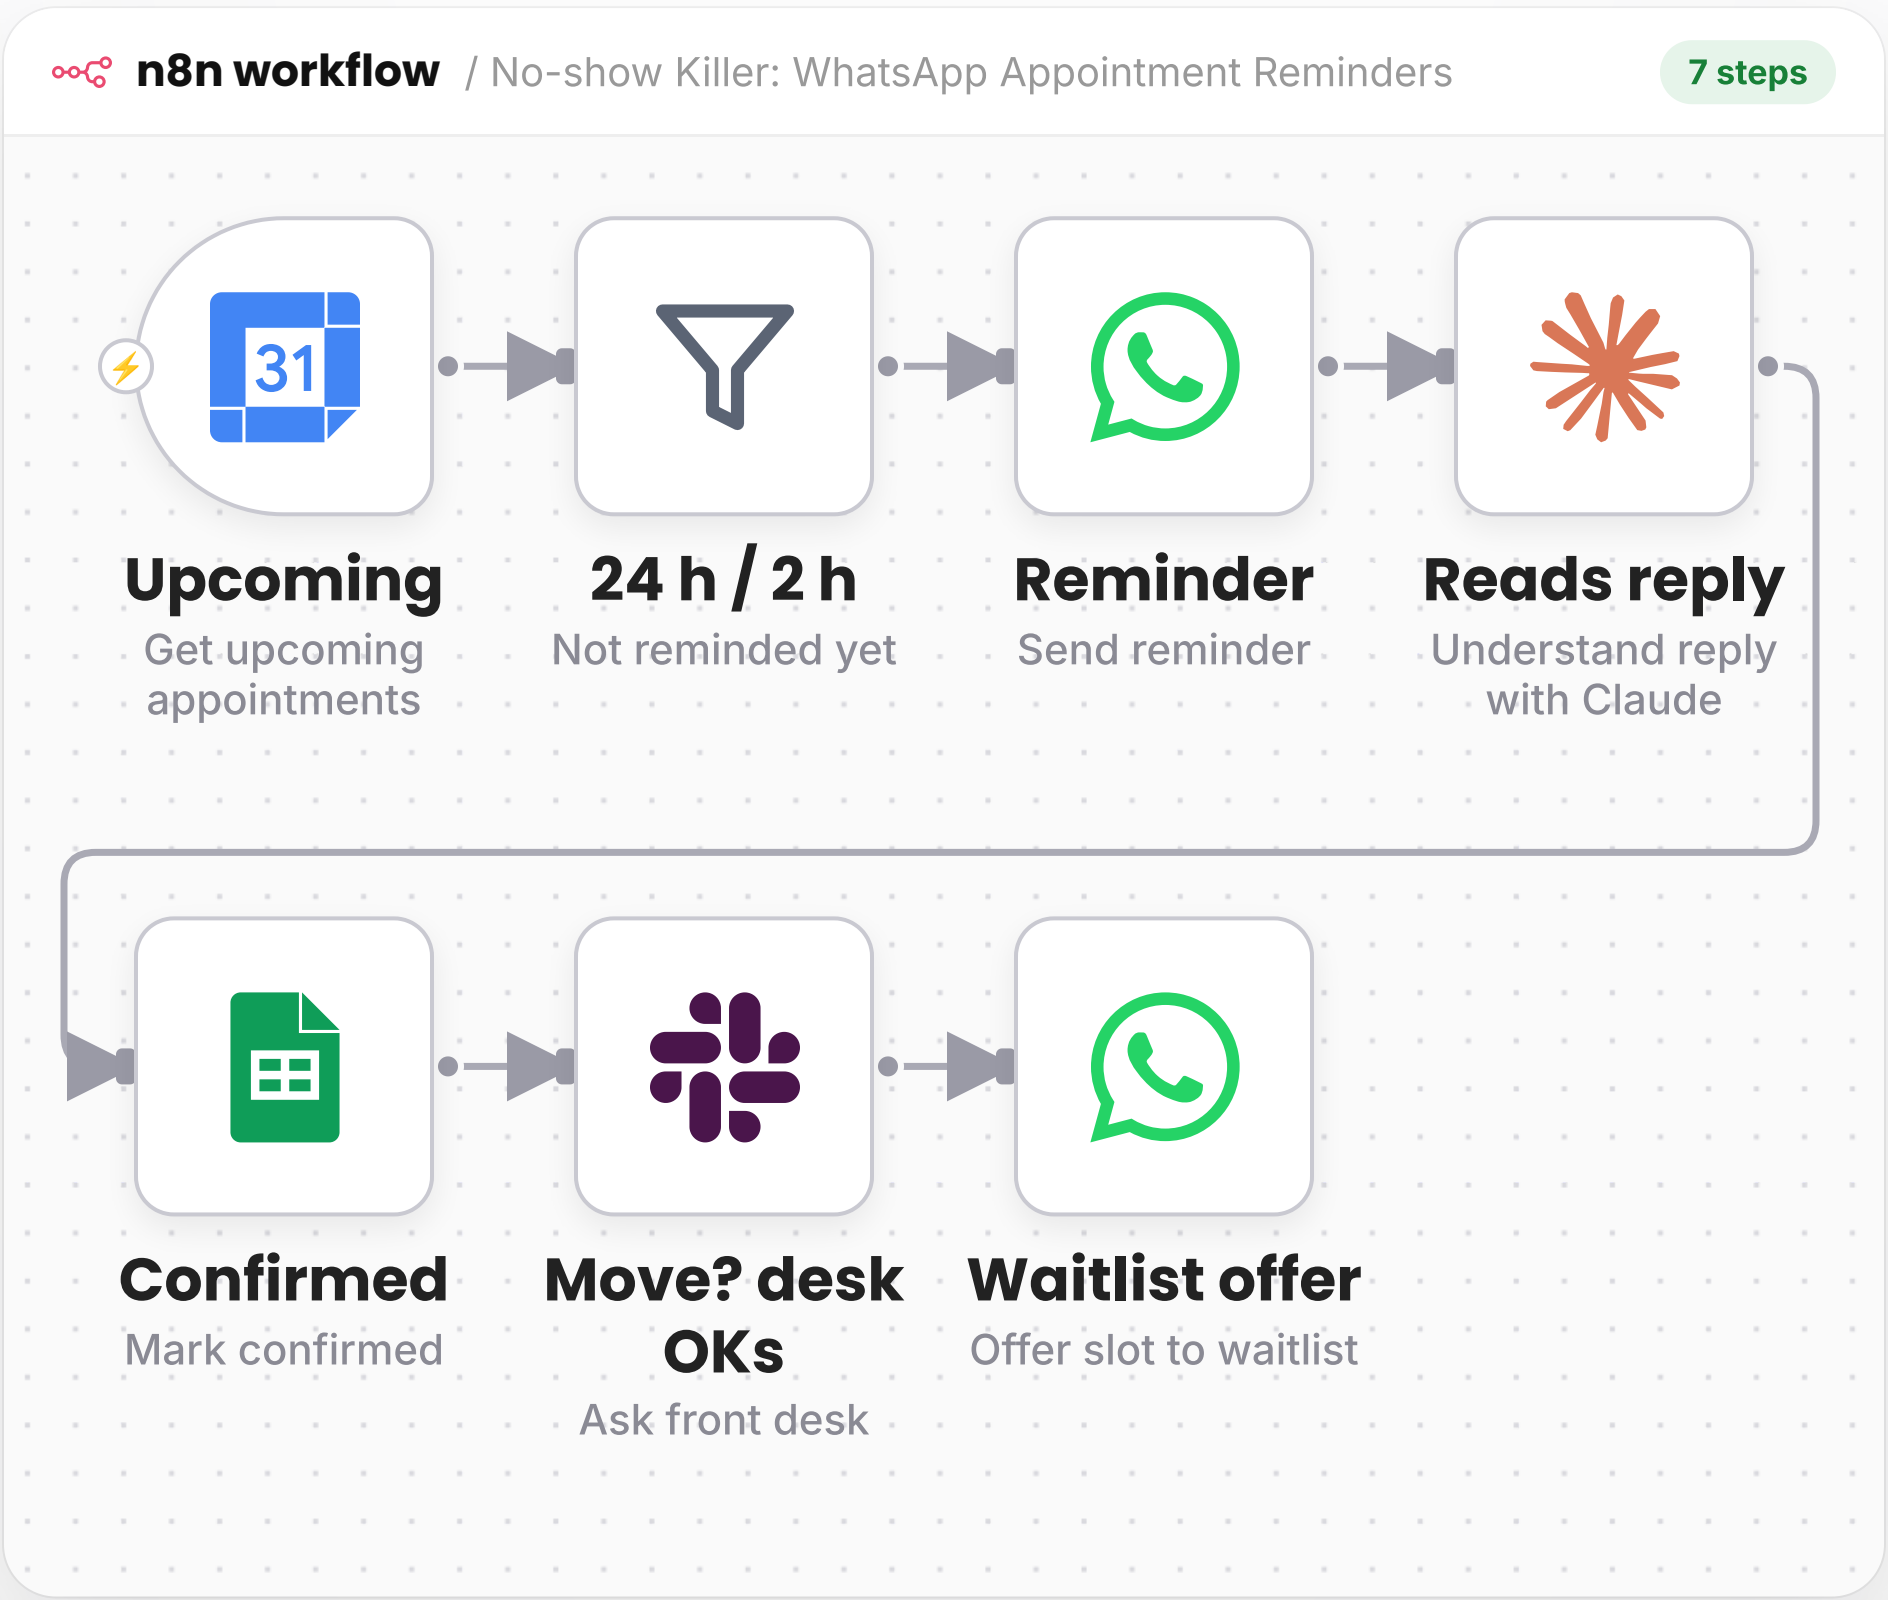

The appointment was booked two weeks ago. She forgot. Nobody called to remind her, and the slot could have gone to someone on the waiting list.

The Workflow

No-show Killer: WhatsApp Appointment Reminders

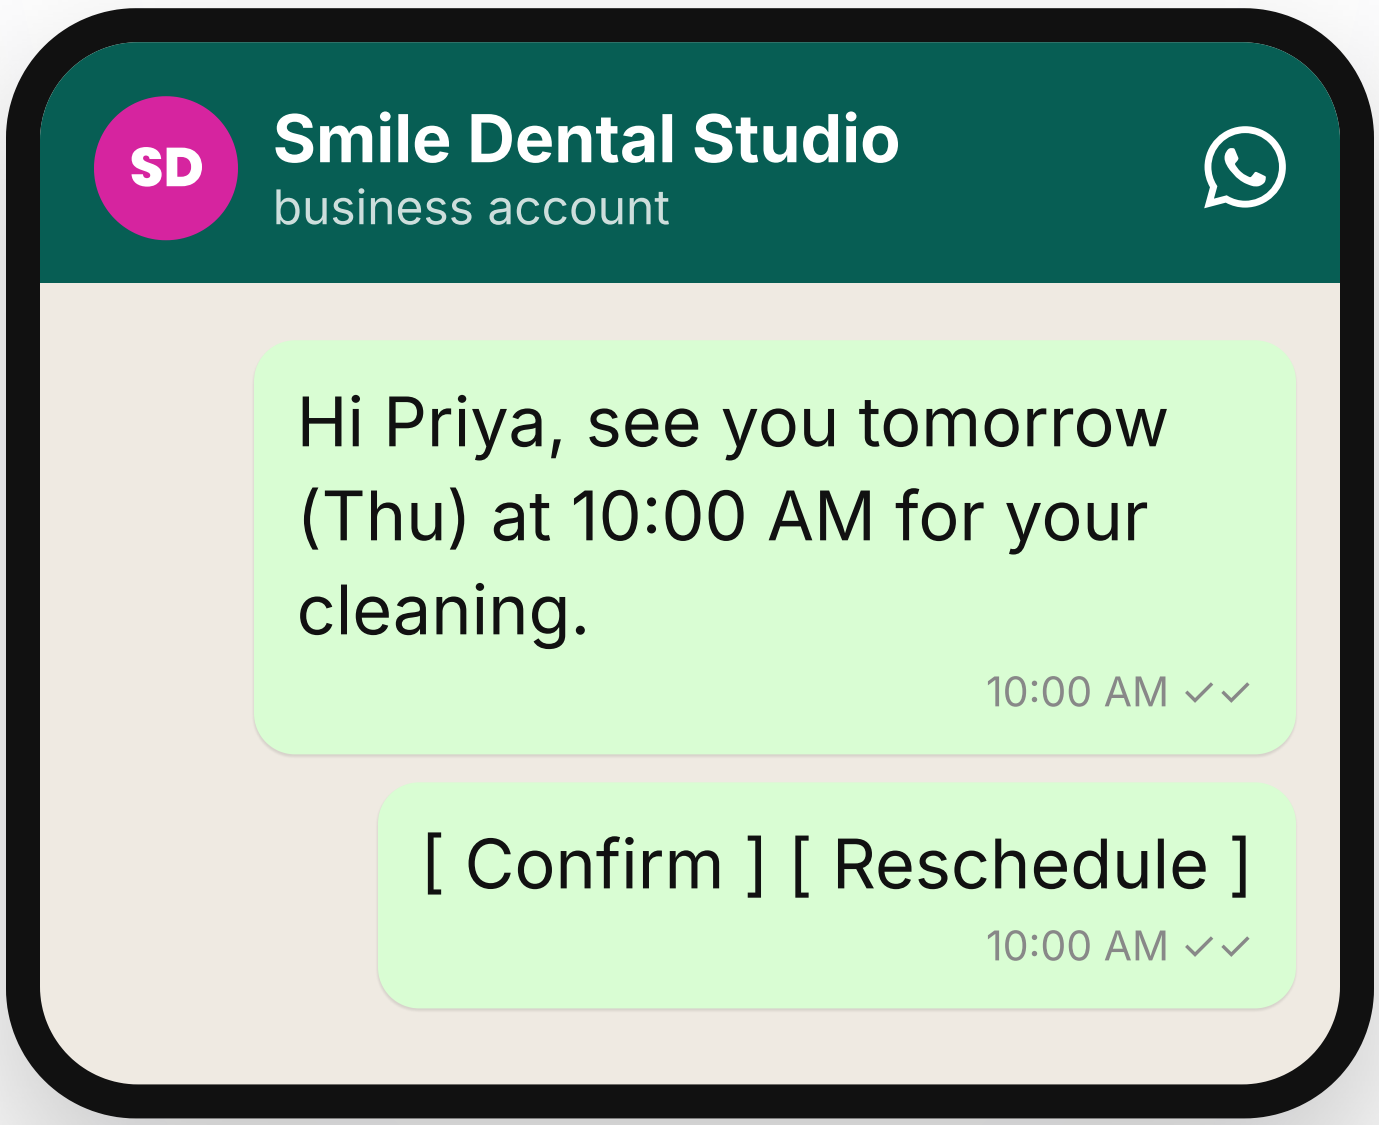

Every box below is a node in the free workflow.

Step 1

Remind at 24 h and 2 h

Every 30 minutes n8n checks your calendar. Appointments 24 hours or 2 hours away get a WhatsApp with Confirm and Reschedule buttons. Each reminder goes out exactly once.

phone comes from the event

N8N NODES

Every 30 minutes → Get upcoming appointments → Who needs a reminder now → Not reminded yet → Send reminder → Log reminder

Step 2

Claude reads the reply

Buttons are easy. But people also type 'can we do 5 pm?' or 'beta ki tabiyat kharab hai'. Claude reads any reply as confirm, move or other, and notes a preferred time.

Claude

"beta ki tabiyat kharab hai, kal aa sakte?"

Intent	move
Preferred	tomorrow
Summary	Child unwell, wants tomorrow

Step 3

Confirmed, or the desk decides

Confirm marks the sheet and sends a thank-you. A move request goes to the front desk in Slack. Nothing is cancelled until they tap Free the slot.

N8N NODES

- Mark confirmed
- Send see you
- Ask front desk
- Front desk approved?
- Alert front desk

Step 4

Refill the slot from the waitlist

Approved? The slot is freed in the calendar, the patient gets your booking link, and the first 3 people on your waitlist are offered the free slot on WhatsApp.

empty chair → filled chair

N8N NODES

- Free the slot
- Send rebooking link
- Read waitlist
- First 3 on waitlist
- Offer slot to waitlist

What Changes

Before and after the workflow

BEFORE

- Patients simply forget
- Staff call one by one
- Cancelled slots stay empty

AFTER

- Reminded at 24 h and 2 h
- Confirm in one tap
- Free slots offered to the waitlist

STAYS HUMAN

Nothing is cancelled or offered to the waitlist until the front desk taps Free the slot.
