The Problem

Friday, 6 PM. 'We're in!'

A new client signs up for monthly GST filing. Everyone celebrates and goes home. Monday: no folder, no welcome email, no kickoff on anyone's calendar. The client's first experience of you is silence.

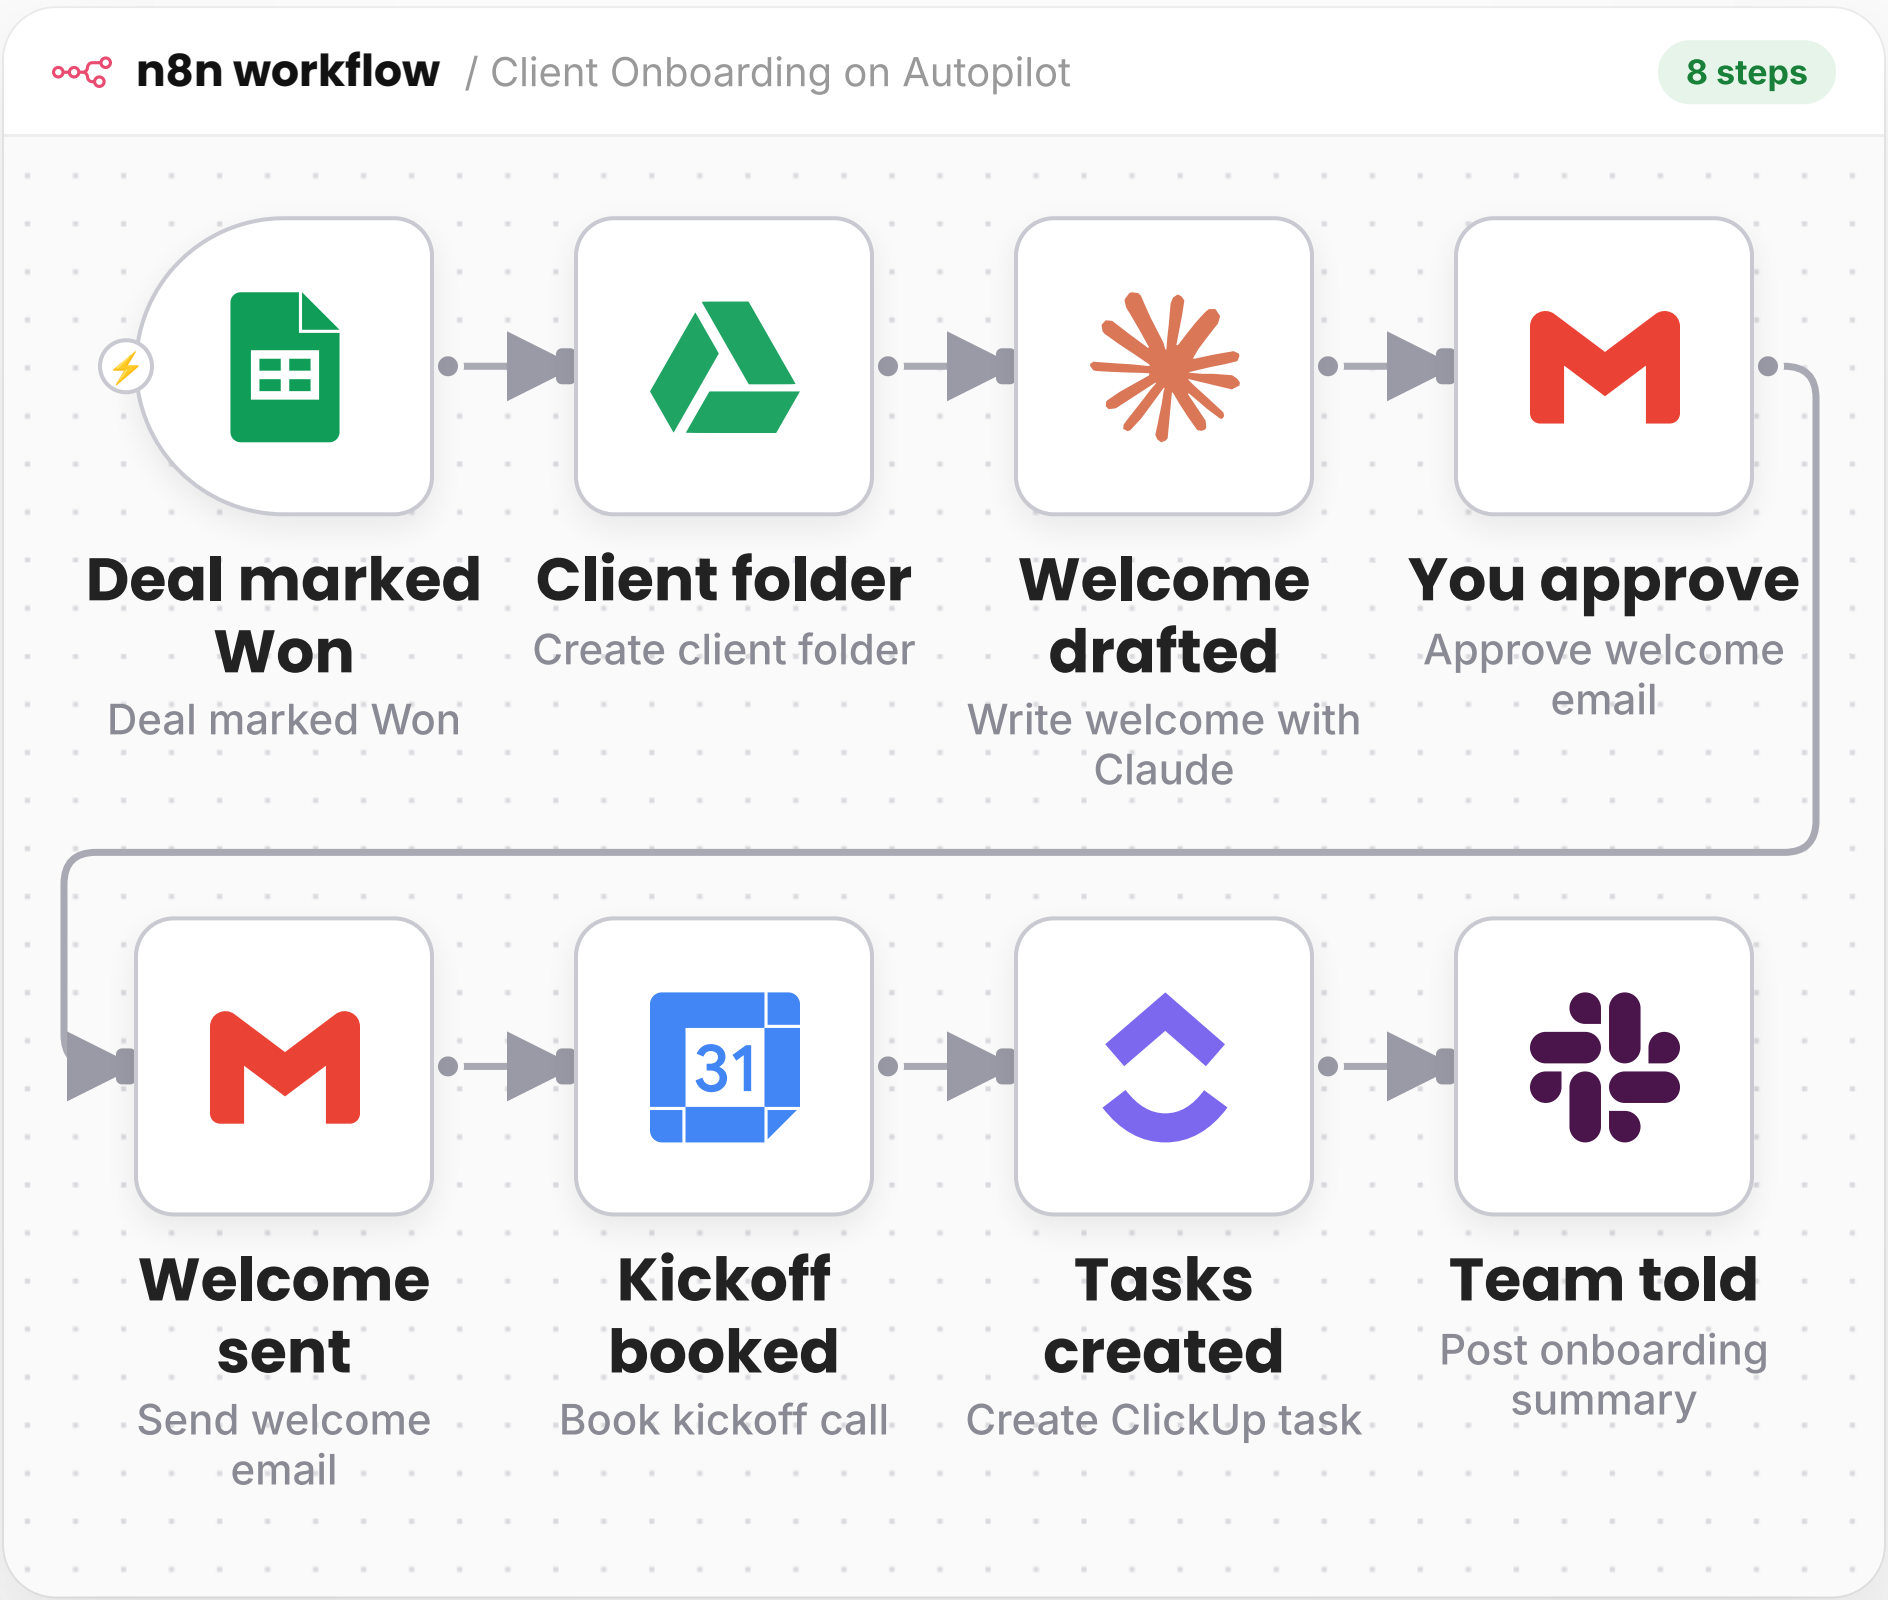

first impression: silence

The Workflow

Client Onboarding on Autopilot

Every box below is a node in the free workflow.

Step 1

A deal turns Won

When you change a deal's Status to Won in your Deals sheet, n8n picks it up. Deals already onboarded are skipped. The documents to ask for are picked by service, and the kickoff is set for the next working day at 11.

Google Sheets

Deals

	Client	Service	Status	Onboarded
1	Verma Electricals	GST filing	Won
2	Kapoor Foods	Bookkeeping	Won	28 Oct
3	Iyer Clinic	Website	Proposal

Clean client details

Step 2

The client folder builds itself

A client folder is created in Drive with five subfolders, from contracts to invoices. Only '02 Client uploads' is shared with the client, so they can drop documents in without seeing anything else.

- [x] Verma Electricals (GST filing)
- [x] 01 Contracts and KYC
- [x] 02 Client uploads (shared)
- [x] 03 Work in progress
- [x] 04 Deliverables · 05 Invoices

N8N NODES

Create client folder · Subfolder list · Create subfolders · Share uploads folder

Step 3

Claude writes the welcome, you approve

Claude writes a warm welcome with who their account manager is, the first week, the kickoff time, the documents needed and the upload link. It lands in the manager's inbox with Send welcome and Hold buttons.

Step 4

Welcome, kickoff and tasks

Click Send welcome and the client gets the email and a Google Meet kickoff invite. Your onboarding checklist for that service becomes ClickUp tasks with owners and due dates.

Step 5

Team told, deal marked done

Slack gets one summary: client, manager, kickoff time, folder link, tasks created and a ready-to-paste WhatsApp group intro. The deal row is marked Onboarded, so it never runs twice.

What Changes

Before and after the workflow

BEFORE

- × Folders made 'later'
- × Client waits for the first email
- × Kickoff fixed over 6 messages

AFTER

- ✓ Folder ready in minutes
- ✓ Welcome and doc list same evening
- ✓ Kickoff already on the calendar

STAYS HUMAN

The welcome email only goes out after the account manager clicks Send welcome. Hold stops it.
