Step 1

Add a Lead to Google Sheets

Name, company, website. A new row starts the workflow.

example leads

Google Sheets

Leads

Name	Company	Website	Status
Ananya R.	Green Leaf Organics	greenleaf.in	new
Vikram P.	Urban Desk	urbandesk.co	drafted
Meera K.	Studio Bloom	studiobloom.in	sent

Google Sheets Trigger · On row added
Only rows where Status = new

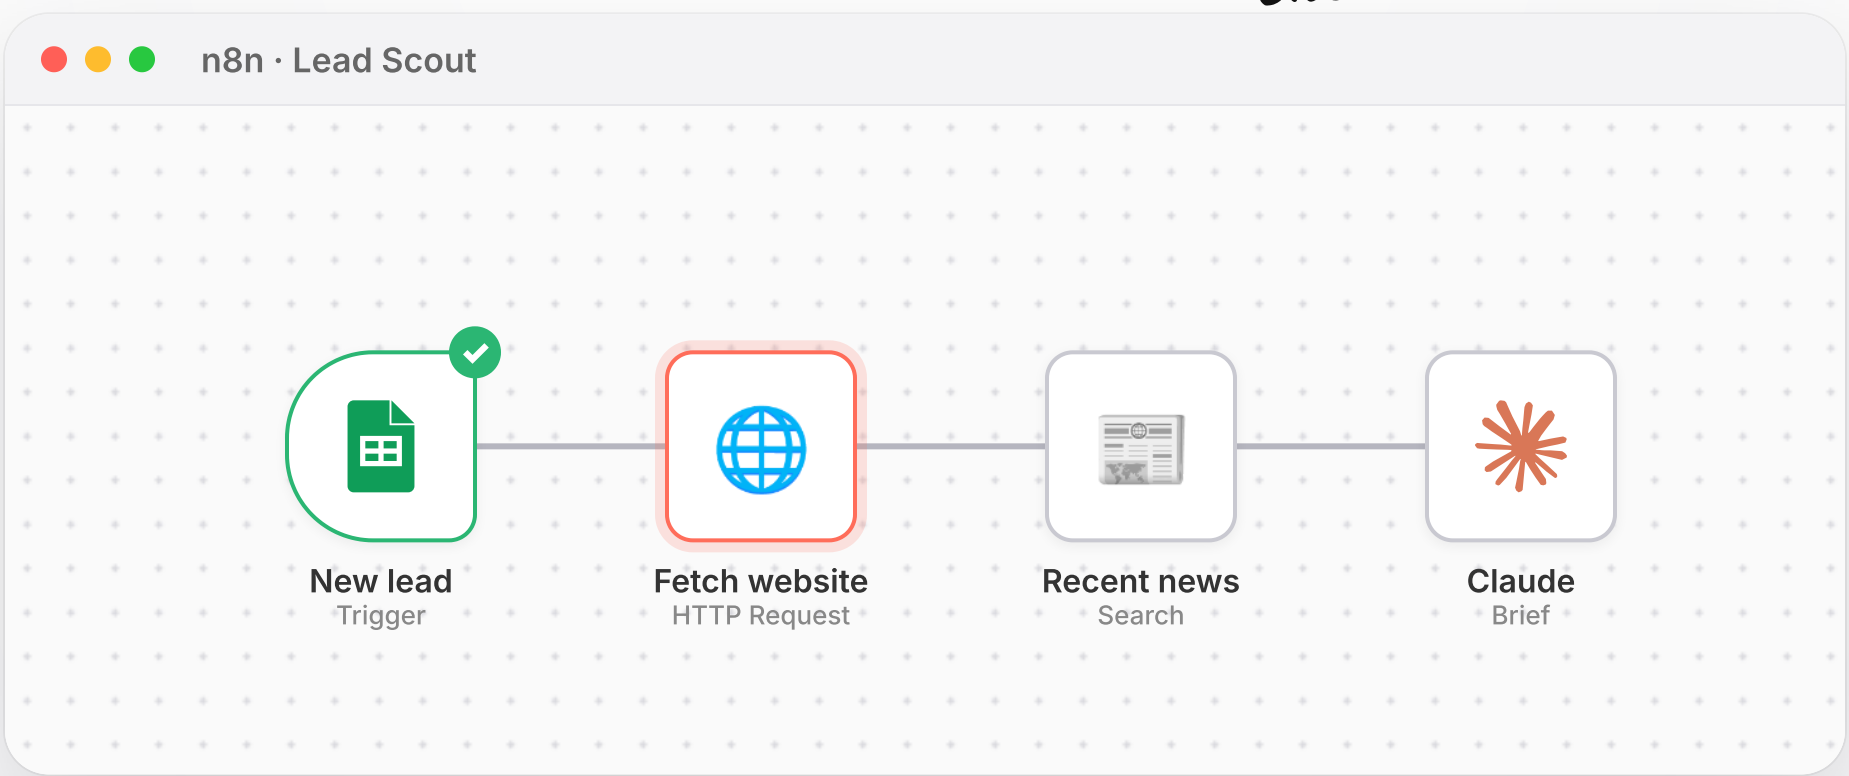

1 row = 1 researched lead

Step 2

n8n Reads Their Website

An HTTP Request node pulls the homepage, plus a quick news search.

the 15 boring minutes

HTTP Request · URL

```
https://{{ $json.website }}
```

Returns the page text: about, services, latest updates.

Step 3

Claude Writes a 5-Line Brief

What they do, who they sell to, what changed, and the best angle.

example company

Claude

Summarise this company in 5 lines for a sales call. Website text and news below.

Green Leaf Organics: organic grocery delivery in Pune.
- Sells to: young families, weekly orders
- New: subscription box launched last month
- Signal: hiring for operations
- Gap: orders still taken on WhatsApp by hand

Best angle: order automation for the new subscription box.

the angle is the gold 🪙

Step 4

Draft a First Line That's Real

Personal means specific. One true detail beats any compliment.

no fake flattery

System Message

Claude › Prompt

Expression

```
Write ONE opening line for a cold email.

1. Mention one real, recent detail from the brief.
2. Under 25 words. No flattery.
3. Lead into how we can help.

Never invent facts that are not in the brief.

// output
"Congrats on the new subscription box. If those orders still arrive on WhatsApp, we can make them land in one place."
```

Step 5

Save It as a Gmail Draft

The workflow uses Create Draft, never Send. Nothing leaves without you.

draft, not send

Subject Subscription box orders

Hi Ananya,

Congrats on the new subscription box. If those orders still arrive on WhatsApp, we can make them land in one place, with a confirmation sent automatically.

Worth a 15-minute call next week?

Step 6

You Review, Edit, Send

AI does the research. You keep the relationship.

👀 Read the brief
Does the angle make sense?

✏️ Edit the draft
Make it sound like you

📤 Send it yourself
From your own Gmail

✅ Status → sent
The sheet updates itself
